((Vienna, Austria)) January 3, 1906

Famed moralist Sigmund Prude was found dead in his hotel room this morning. On the desk was found a suicide note:

To whomever reads this--

I just can't go on after all of the moral degradation I have seen all over Europe in the past few years. This last Fall and Winter were so terrible that I was on the verge of a stroke after yesterday morning's report of the Felix Picthere case. But this morning when I was called in by police to actually see the scene of the crime and the materials confiscated I knew Europe was too far gone to save. The police told me that even though they reported to the poor people of Paris that the raid had stopped these wicked acts, they admitted that this story was just printed for the people's benefit. The stores all over Paris sell this trash, and the red light district is growing weekly! Houses that cater to the whims of the most demented and perverted sexual deviates, like Sultan Omar II of Turkey and the like (especially the Comptess de Caquet who is reported to own at least $\frac{1}{4}$ of the houses herself) thrive!

Of course Germany is even worse I have heard. Ever since they captured Sweden and have the vast amounts of pornography of that country spilling in, plus the new LSD kick that has even moved to the highest levels of government, I know there is no hope.

Soon the Kaiser will have massive public orgies and debacles in the very heart of Berlin! I just can't stand it any longer.

Tell Alfie ((Alfred von Butt)) I love him.

Signed

Siggy

Kiev, Ukraine December 1969

A group of Kiev engineers have completed a model of the D-1 Zeppelin. The first tests have been made to define its durability and aerodynamic properties. The D-1 has a light yet powerful gas turbine engine. Its speed ranges to 125 mph and it can lift a load of 10-12 tons to a height of several miles.

Specialists are working on several other variations of the zeppelin, some to be used on construction jobs and others to transport passengers.

Constantinople, Turkey: September 8, 1904

The Turkish General Staff was overjoyed at the Turkish victory in Serbia. A victory celebration was held to which Count Dracula was invited. The invitation was declined when the Count learned it was to include "stake" dinner.

Sofia, Bulgaria: November 12, 1904

Turkish forces today invaded Rumania. No malice is harbored toward the Russians, but in view of recent Russian moves, the invasion was described as mercy killing.

Somewhere in Bohemia: July 7, 1904

Count Dracula narrowly escaped death today as a grotesque, foul smelling ogre entered the royal palace and attempted to kill him. The huge beast lunged at the count with a wooden stake but Dracula was too quick, he changed into a wolf and jumped for the monster's throat. Onlookers were astonished, those of them with severe head colds, that is, (others had already passed out from the odor) at the fierce battle, to say nothing of the series of transformations the Count performed as they watched.

The Count finally flew out the window and landed in a tree (unfortunately, he was not a bat at the time the fiend threw him out the window).

Observers in Austria say that the country is really going to pot! It's about the only aroma that covers the smell of the garlic and the green von Fluffy character!

Spwildinger, Prussia; January 21, 1906 (GNP):

Field Marshal Gerr von Stoyer today announced the full mobilization of German military forces in order to maintain internal order.

Berlin, Germany; January 27, 1906 (GNP):

It appears that the military officials have effected a bloodless coup, as today the Kaiser, who has been unavailable for comment, announced an indefinite extension of military authority in domestic civil affairs.

Berlin, Germany; February 15, 1906 (GNP):

Political observers here have yet to determine exactly who is running the country. The Kaiser is still officially the Emperor, but seems to be powerless in the hands of the military.

It would seem logical to assume that Field Marshal von Stoyer, the supreme commander of German armed forces, is running the country; however, many diplomats here feel that his Chief of Staff, a virtual unknown number two man, is calling the shots.

Washington D.C.; 23 December 1905 (Gardener Press):

In a grim Christmas Eve message, the President announced an all night session of Congress, asking that war be declared against the Franco-Prussian Axis. Hun attacks on innocent Austria brought about this long delayed measure. Informed military sources state that mobilization orders have been prepared and that the Pacific fleet has already left Manila, sailing for Vladivostok. Lapel buttons with slogans like "The Kaiser is a One-Armed Bandit" and "Kick France's Pants" are the rage throughout the country. When late editions of the newspapers bearing the President's speech appeared, long lines of volunteers were seen in front of armed forces recruiting stations. Numerous notables were contacted in order to learn their reaction to the probable entrance of the US into the war. The French Premier was perched atop the Eiffel Tower (supposedly communing with Astral Powers), and the Kaiser was unavailable for comment as he was interviewing a new upstairs maid. However, several /p.4/

Pope Pussel I: "I only speak through my mouthpiece, Pill (the Puppet) Prithurd."

Xanadu, Turkey; 28 June 1906 (TPI):

His Omnipotence spoke to the throngs of the faithful who packed the parks surrounding the Pleasure Dome in order to hear the Pearls of Wisdom uttered by Sultan Omar I.
After announcing the elevation of General-Admiral Gengis Cohen to Calif of Greece (lately liberated by the great Levantine commander from Italian oppressors), and Peer of the Realm. The Light of the World spoke on recent developments:

"We welcome all those joining us in this jihad against the enemies of freedom, France and Germany. It is with great happiness that we tell you that Austria-Hungary has finally seen the light, and now fights with Us to save not only Europe and Asia, but the world, from Canard and his Dupe!"

"We only wonder how long the Kaiser will continue to find stale French pastry palatable -- perhaps until he finally chokes to death on a crumb."

The glorious Sultan also offered his sincere condolences to Italian Chief of State
King Mikul the Blameless over the necessity of early liberation of Greece.

Dear Aunt Phoebe:

My boyfriend claims that Spyro Agnew is an effete snob and I say Spyro said that Teddy Kennedy was one. Who's right?

Perplexed

Dear Screwed up:

It's all a matter of interpretation honey. It depends on whether you like "fourth rate hack politions" or weekends in Massachusetts. Since snobbishness does not require a great deal of intellect, Spyro could fit the bill; in Toddy's case snobbery is a case of how you consider taking a swim at 2 in the morning.

Dear Aunt Phoebe:

Some of the trash you print in your newspaper is utter filth! I suggest you learn how to spell and how to keep this garbage from cluttering my mails.

Indignant

Dear Indignant:

This small 'zine will easily fit among your stock dividned letters; your circulars from the DAR, the American Legion and KKK; and your Popular Mechanics, House Beautiful and Reader's Digest. Look at it this way -- at least I'm not sending you a copy of Graustark. If I did, your bippy would fall off!

Dear Aunt Phoebe:

I just got da last copy 'a GRAUSTARK, #200, and it was really great, I mean really great! Thanks for recommending it.

Blissful

Dear Ignorant:

When I got my copy I counted 40 pages of printed matter which was supposed to be a highlight of the Diplomaey' year. Instead it was cluttered with 20 pages of political diatribe and commentary straight from the Manifesto. I'm glad you're happy with it -- what happened -- run out of toilet paper at your house?

Dear Auntie:

I just loved Spyro's speech last night after Dick (hilmouse) Nixon vetoed that GHASTLY H E W bill. And to appease those ugly MASSES he did say it was not done to hurt the poor, to give less medical support to the aged, to provide a lower level of education or to cut back on the frontiers of the poverty program.

Billy Buckley Jr.

Dear Billy;

He may not have it TO produce those results -- it just does. Old hilmouse decided to "show congress who's boss". It's unfortunate that to stop inflation he killed a few hundred starving children, kept others at their already low level of literaey and forced the aged to enter state homes + institutions because they have no money to pay their hospital bills. But Dick did "show" us and you too! It's a pity you're to stupid to see what it was.

Dear Aunt Phoebe:

I've taken birth control pills for ten years, eaten foods with eyelamates for seven, enjoyed liquor, cigarettes and cranberry sause (in excess) since I was 15, and lived in the heart of downtown Los Angles for all of my life. How come I'm not sick?

Healthy.

Dear Healthy:

Your record of excesses and flirting with danger is impressive. (Even if some of what you list -- birth control pills (estrogens, that is), cyclamates, and cranberry sauce produce disease in animals (animals that, by the way, have entirely different enzyme system and only with a dosage of 20 times normal) when in humans it is shown to be harmful in only a small fraction of 1%. It might be noted that Aspirin, caffeine and brominated compounds are even more deadly, yet the Pure Food and Drug Administration (HO HO?) hasn't gotten to them yet.) However, when your lungs rot, your liver gives out, your arteries become like brittle plastic, and your relatives bury you at 45, pre-embalmed, it will be a pity you won't be here to see it.

Dear Aunt Phoebe:

Would you comment on the Bobby Seale (Chicago 8 -- or 7 -- depending on how you count) trial and the inquest into the raid on a Black Panther's apartment in Chicago?

A. J. Philistine

Dear Phil:

It's a case of the blacks getting a rather poor white wash.

Dear Phoebe:

When one of your "clan" of lonely hearts writers was on the Dick Cavett show she refused to talk about transsexuals. Why was that?
"should I go to Sweden?"

Dear inbetween:

Ann has a habit of writing choice answers about everything from soup to sexual aberrations. Yet her glib and witty comments (I'll give her the benefit of the doubt) are about as much good as consoling a Christian Scientist with a bleeding ulcer. If Ann had her PhD in psychiatry she might be an authority, as it is now, she's like the old bat next door handing over everyone's fence, offering advice and tidbits to those witless enough to lap it up. As for transsexuals, it's probably not one of the new words in her Reader's indigestion -- so she's not even going to admit it exists. After all she had "better things to talk about", luckily for the listeners the show was running late.

Rome: After finishing a meal of escargo, frog legs and burgundy wine the king of Italy was asked "how did it taste?" "Not so good", he replied " the wine was inferior to that made in apulia, the snails were on the slimy side and the frog legs were ok if you like frogs, but then who does?" Wondering at the strange menu the king ordered an investigation of the Royal kitchens. The search turned up a field marshal, three generals and six majors all of the french secret service (army branch) they were forced to live off the field marshal's (reputed to be a second cousin to the king of france and 143th in line for the crown) cooking.
 The survivors were turned loose in the Moslum quarter of Tunis.

Geneva While passing through customs a Swiss tourist was found to have in his possession Boton and a large quantity of gold lace. Its ownership was traced to the French Army. The tourist claimed he got it in a Tunis Bazaar. cheap.

St. Petersburg April 1, 1904

The unfounded rumor that the Czar has abdicated in favor of a proletarian dictator is not true. Although suffering from stab wounds in the East and West he refused to give up the throne. It is said that he is willing to deal with anyone at any time, for appropriate concessions and protection. If nobody is prepared to offer a reasonable alliance, the Czar is prepared to dig in, as his ancestors have, and harass all invaders -- be they Napoleons Hitlers or Turks.

Naples in a surprise move, the Italian government today appointed "arms" moratorium a well known local wrestler, ambassador to Turkey. He is the fiancé of Jacqueline Hyde, the famous quick change artist.

Marseilles The French government announced today that it had engaged the services of sonny la matina, a well known bugler, with the discreditable end of improving the efficiency of the army by getting everyone to work on time.

Smyrna: In a minor reshuffle of high level military personnel, Sultan Hotan Humid named a new surgeon general, Sikh Bey. He will be assisted in his new duties by the first female Chief of the public health service, Carmen Kohleel, recently an executive in a local cosmetics works.

Berlin: The German general staff has announced they have solved the identity of the German unknown soldier. He is anonymous Bosch, one time pipefitter of Hamburg. He is survived by a cousin, Bridget Pomagen, who currently operates a fairy service across the Rhine. (Homomeltzer) information to the discovery was provided by Munich tract builder, Baron Waste.
